Dear Mr Abu

My parents owned two homes in Chennai India

One was Number Four Archbishop Matthias Road. This was kept locked up and unoccupied

They were living in another home at Ashok Tapasvi

When they came to England in 2005, they sold Number Four Archbishop Mathias Road. The approximate sale price was 450k

They bought 19 Carson Grove for for around 450K in mid 2006 (double check price with land registry)

Around 2016, my father sold the Ashok Tapasvi home. At this time Steven Wortley went with my father to India because he was too weak to travel alone, and I stayed at home with mother at 19 Carston Grove to take care of her.

Because the two homes in Chennai were sold a decade apart, and prices keep increasing, this flat was pretty good, it probably sold for the same price as Number Four Archbishop Matthias Road

My parents were on a wealth retirement visa
They probably applied in 2006
They probably got ILR in 2011
Their condition was to live for five years in the UK, during which prove an annual income of at least £11000

In 2005, my father took me to HSBC Cambridge, where he said he had a huge savings account and here left it in the UK. I know it for a fact that my mother had private banking in NatWest Reading. In NatWest Bank if you have a savings account exceeding £50000, they call it private banking. She had a same caste relationship manager.

My father said his annual Savings interest was sufficient to give the Home Office proof of £11,000. He said they were getting a few thousand as disability and carer allowance. In addition after the sale of the Ashok Tapasvi flat around 2016, maybe 4.5K k was added to that savings

Moreover in 2018, before my departure to Ireland, I have visited my parents and stayed overnight with Alex. We discovered a savings deposit in an Indian bank of 100,000 pounds
